GENERAL HEADQUARTERS,

STATE OF MARYLAND,

Adjutant General's Office,

Annapolis, Dec. 31st, 1881.

To his Excellency,

William T. Hamilton,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

Sir:—In conformity with Section 7, of the Militia Law, approved April 4th, 1870, I have the honor to submit my report for the year ending January 1st, 1882.

There has been but little alteration of the National Guard since my last report.

I thought best, so far as I could, to consolidate the independent companies into battalions. I have, therefore, formed two battalions in the western part of the State, with headquarters of the First at Hagerstown, Lieut. Colonel H. Kyd Douglas, commanding, and headquarters of the Second at Cumberland, Major Henry J. Johnson, commanding.

I have not encouraged the formation of new companies, as the appropriation was of such a limited character that this Department was not in a condition to give such aid as they required—thinking it better to keep those now mustered into service well equipped, and prepared for active service at the shortest notice, than to have a larger force only partially prepared for duty. Yet, there are several companies now organizing, and, if they succeed, will add considerable strength to the present force.

The regiment, battalions, and unattached infantry companies which we now have—if kept up in number allowed by law, well equipped and drilled—will, in my opinion, be sufficient of this arm of the service, to render such assistance as the civil authorities may at any time require, to sustain the laws of the State; but we do require two additional first-class companies, which would be of incalculable value in case of active service, one of cavalry and a battery of artillery, which battery cannot be properly organized at once without additional appropriation. I think a good company of cavalry can be equipped out of the regular appropriation, if made equal to those of the last two years; but an artillery company cannot be so equipped yet. As the General Government furnishes each State with a certain amount of military equipments annually, and Maryland's proportion being nearly $1,000.00 per annum, and have drawn from the United States for the last two years, 490 B. L. Springfield Rifles, calibre 45, with all the appendages thereto; the number drawn last year, was 256 B. L. Springfield Rifles, calibre 45, with all the appendages thereto, the account of which you will find in Table C, amounting upwards of $7,000. We now have as many arms of this description as the State requires.

I now propose to ask the Secretary of War to advance the State what military equipments we may be entitled to, according to law, for this year and next, in artillery equipments; and if this request is granted, I will be able to organize a battery at once of this arm of defense, which, when done, will, in my opinion, be all the State now requires.

In order to place the National Guard in such condition as to do credit to the State, it is absolutely necessary for them to spend a few days, annually, in camp, but this the State cannot expect the volunteer soldiers to do at their own expense, the loss of time, labor—at ordinary drills and parades—and expense attending the same, in order to be prepared for duties which they are often called on to perform, is as much as the public expects them to do without charge.

The importance of keeping up a proper military organization in the State, none will deny, but to do this, proper appropriation must be made. What stores belonging to the militia not in use, have to be kept at the armory of the Fifth Regiment, there being no other place to keep them.

The property, used for a number of years by the United States as an arsenal, has been transferred to the State, and is now in charge of this Department, which, having no power to make any permanent use of it, the expense had to be defrayed from the Militia Fund. This property is located about eight miles from Baltimore City, on the Reisterstown road, and contains about 13 acres, with a number of brick buildings thereon, which must have cost the General Government a considerable sum. These buildings now need repairing, which can be done with a small outlay, and when done, the State will have an arsenal sufficient at all times for what military goods which may be on hand, with ground enough for State Encampments, with barracks sufficient to accommodate the troops with but a small number of tents in addition thereto.

If the Legislature should think proper to retain this property for military purposes, and transfer the same to this Department permanently, it can be kept with but little or no expense to the State.

The Court-Martial, which was convened by Special Orders No. 16, Series 1880, has been dissolved, all the difficulties which it was called upon to try has been amicably arranged.

I would most respectfully suggest, that such alterations or amendments be made to the present Militia Law as would enable the Adjutant General to know the number of able-bodied men, subject to military duty in the State, and to locate the same. He could then give the information required by law, to arrange them into Regiments and Companies, and if an additional force to the National Guard should at any time be required, they could be called into service at a very short notice.

It has been doubted, by some, whether the present law clothed the Militia Officer with power to enforce discipline in that manner which accords with the known military usages of the country, and as this is very important to the good order and proper discipline of the National Guard, all doubt on this point should be removed.

Although there was no special appropriation to defray the expenses necessarily attending an encampment for 1881, yet as there was to be a great National Celebration at Yorktown, Va., and as every State in the Union was to be represented, it was, therefore, thought eminently proper for the State, to the extent of its ability, to assist the volunteer soldiers who took part in this celebration to defray the expense. All but two companies of the Maryland National Guard took part in this great celebration, losing their time, performing the labor and defraying a portion of their expenses with cheerfulness and pleasure.

When it was concluded for the State troops to take part in this celebration, I placed them all under the command of Brig. Gen'l James R. Herbert, knowing him to have all the military knowledge and personal integrity necessary for this important position, and directed him to personally inspect all the companies who reported their desire to visit Yorktown. The good order which prevailed among the entire command, from the time they left Baltimore, until their return, not only proved the ability of the Commander, but all the officers and men who took part in that celebration, deserved the highest commendation from the public authority.

J. WESLEY WATKINS,

Maj. Gen'l, and Adjutant Gen'l of Maryland.
